

The 36th Chinese Control Conference

Plenary Panel Session Speaker

Ming Li received his Ph. D. degree in Power Electronics and Power Transmission from China University of Mining and Technology. From 2003 to 2006, he carried out his postdoctoral research with the School of Electronic Information and Electrical Engineering, in Shanghai Jiao Tong University. Now he is a professor and the dean of School of Information and Control Engineering, in China University of Mining and Technology.

Prof. Li's research interests include intelligent control and system, and electrical engineering. He is now the vice-chairman in the Board of Supervisors of the Automation Society of Jiangsu province. He is also the Secretary General of the Committee of Coal mine Automation of China Coal Society.